

by Tropica

The large filter box on the right side of the aquarium invites to a diagonal layout, falling to the left. Light green Cardamine and red Ludwigia start the falling line which continues downwards with deep green Bolbitis and finishes with light green erectus and ranunculus. A large spider-like root breaks the stiff line and together with Reni gives the aquarium depth. Tenellus, ranunculus and helferi make a rich carpet that gives the picture a final touch.

Tips! Think about the colours and structure of the rocks and bottom layer. Raw and mat materials in grey and black are used here to blend in with the aquarium and the filter box.
